

Tuesday, June 21, 2011

ROOM	102/104	106	108	110/112	201	203	205	207	601	603	605	607	702	704/706	708	710/712	111	113	709	711	ROOM
1:00pm-2:30pm	An Opening to Health Equity	The Role of Transportation Fostering Active Living	Smoke-Free Housing: Multifamily Housing Policy Strategies and Successes	Beyond Delegation and Education: Local Leveraging of EPA's Renovation, Remodeling and Painting Rule	Developing, Supporting, and Sustaining Healthy Homes – Part 2	Understanding Indoor Air: Venting Combustion and Filtration	Healthy Housing for Seniors	Developing Brownfields	Weatherization and Health: The Devils Are in the Details	Lead Program Expert Panel: RRP Rule and Updates from the Field	The International Face of Healthy Housing	Improving Health Literacy: Tips and Tools for Healthy Homes Professionals	Childhood Lead Poisoning 2011: A Mother's Story	Findings from the Evaluation of Effective Asthma Management Programs for Pediatric Asthma in Michigan and for Adults in California	Are We Ready for Smoke-Free Public Housing?	How Much Is Too Much Wheeze?: Laboratory and Field Research to Develop a Standardized Allergen Sampling Protocol	Neighborhood and Residential Factors Predicting Children's Lead Poisoning and Asthma Risk	Powerful Collaboration for Healthy Homes Policy Advocacy	Lessons Learned from Integration of Healthy Homes into Energy Conservation Programs	Linking the Health Care Community and Outdoor Activities	1:00pm-2:30pm
3:00pm-4:15pm	Developing and Using Evidence for Healthy Communities	Connecting People to Places for Active Communities	Smoke-Free Housing: Changing the Landscape of America	Implementation of the Renovation, Repair and Painting Rule	Transitioning from a Lead Focus to Healthy Homes – Part 1	Old Home, Healthy Home	How to Maximize Indoor Environmental Quality, Using the National Green Building Standard	Partnering to Build Healthy Communities	Addressing Indoor Air Quality in Multifamily Buildings	Healthy Homes: Addressing Chemical Sensitivity with Research, Design and Testing	Safety: A Key Principle for Healthy Homes	A Change Campaign to Drive Success for the Healthy Homes Movement	New Evidence on Respiratory Health Risks from Damp and Moldy Homes and Efficacy of Commercial Fungicides for Mold Remediation	Key Contaminants in the Indoor Environment and Their Potential Effects on Resident Health: Results from a Literature Review and Research in Low Income Multifamily Housing	The Magic of Strategic Partnerships	Passive House: The Silver Bullet for Affordable, Healthy and Energy Efficient Homes	Healthy Homes Education – Local to Institutional	The Connection: Bringing Healthy Homes and Energy Efficiency Together	Mapping Neighborhood Characteristics: Utilizing GIS for Maximizing Resources and Directing Funding at the Municipal Level	Healthy Homes: The Delicate Balance Between Energy Efficiency and Good Indoor Air Quality	3:00pm-4:15pm
4:30pm-5:15pm	Greenprinting: Proactive Conservation Planning	Active Transportation and Community Health: How Transportation Policy and Funding Decisions Support Healthy Homes	Improving Healthy Homes Programs through Board of Health Policy Development and Advocacy	Bringing Healthy Food Home: Policy Strategies to Integrate Food Access into Housing	Transitioning from a Lead Focus to Healthy Homes – Part 2	Overcoming Policy Barriers to Improve Health and Livability	Healthy Indoor Quality by Design	WaterSense® Labeled New Homes: Save Water. Save Energy. Save Money.	The Healthy Homes Program Guidance Manual – Part 2	Infrared Thermography: Brilliant but Dangerous	Education and Outreach Through Community Initiatives	Harnessing the Power of the Media	Childhood Asthma and the Home Environment: A Summary of Current Knowledge	Home Environments, Safety Practices, and Indoor Air Quality Among Recent Mexican Immigrant Families: A Population-Based Study	Leveraging Public Resources to Create Affordably Healthy Housing	Energy & IEQ Tools for Multifamily Housing and Aging in Place			Chemical Safety in the Home	Healthy Homes in Indian Country	4:30pm-5:15pm

Presentation Not Available

Presentation Not Available